Alternative Medicine and the Need For Research

The goal of integrative medicine is to treat the whole person, body, mind and spirit. Practitioners of integrative medicine do not just treat "disease" but work to prevent or reverse disease, illness and chronic conditions. Approximately two-thirds of Americans utilize alternative medicine yet; very little funding is invested in Complementary and Alternative Medicine (CAM) research. Continue reading ...

Healing Christchurch with NET

Four earthquakes and 9,000 aftershocks have struck the city of Christchurch, New Zealand on September 4, 2010, February 22, 2011, June 13, 2011 and again December 23, 2011. Last August Dr. Scott Walker saw the devastation first hand and knew he wanted to help. Continue reading ...

In 1984, a head-on collision at 64 mph and a chiropractor alleviating the pain resulted in a change of career course for Dr. Nathan. It led to UC Davis for a BA in physiology then to Cleveland Chiropractic College, Los Angeles, where he graduated magna cum laude. Read More...

Dr. Larry E. Goodman, D.C.
8603 South Dixie Highway
Suite 411
Miami, FL 33143
305-388-7577

Dr. Larry's journey from a practitioner with 300-350 patients per week (hating it) to a wellness boutique of 30 elite patients (Can't really believe I get paid to do this!) began in 1998. This pivotal year included retiring his 18-year old business, getting a divorce, and attending his first NET seminar with Dr. Scott Walker. Read More ...

Debbie O'Reilly, D.C.,

For 10 years, Dr. Debbie was a medical technologist until she came to that first fork in the road, absorbing a lecture on nutrition given by a chiropractor. The concept of a healthy life journey without drugs or surgery became her calling. Graduating with honors from National College of Chiropractic in Lombard, IL in 1993, she began her practice in 1994. Read More ...
